ILLUMINATE

The Electric Light is, without doubt, destined to be

The Light of the Immediate Future.

It has proven itself more safe, convenient, cleanly and healthful than any other illuminants.

No ignition from match stumps. No oils to explode.
No gas-pipes to blow up. No soiling of goods.
No asphyxiation.
No vitiation of the air of offices or homes. It is strangely suggestive of recovered sunlight.

The secret of success in Electric Lighting centres in the coal pile.
A dollar saved in fuel is a dollar earned in dividends.

THE BALL ELECTRIC LIGHT AND MANUFACTURING CO.

of Toronto claim for their systems the ability to produce more light per horsepower of energy expended, than can be produced by any other system known. They guarantee their machinery to outlast other makes, while they are able to sell it at fully one-third less. They supply "arc" and "incandescent" apparatus, or both combined, in any size and quantity.

Long distance Incandescent Lighting a specialty. Isolated plants for factories, mills, and machine shops furnished and set up.

Their 1000-candle-power arc lamps a great success.

OUR ENGLISH LETTER.

Servia Beset With Difficulties—The Outlook for the Peace of Europe not Bright.

Paralysis of Trade in London—Ships Directed by the Strikers to Other Ports.

[From our own Correspondent.]

London, Sept. 16.—Poor Servia is still beset with difficulties and dangers. The pretensions of Prince Nicholas and Prince Karageorgevitch to the throne are assuming a more acute form, and King Milan will, it is thought, have to forego his proposed visit to Paris, and return from Karlsbad direct to Vienna, in order to be near his son. Queen Natalie, who is recovering rapidly from her illness, has now decided to return to Belgrade, heedless of consequences. The Regents are, therefore, on the horns of a dilemma. They possess neither the confidence of King Milan, nor of Queen Natalie, nor, even, of the boy on the throne, who is attempting to shake off their authority and act independently. The government has, moreover, taken the dangerous course of suspending, instead of terminating, the manœuvres, so that the levies will retain their rifles. This means that the elections for the Skupitchina will take place under what is tantamount to a reign of terror, and the new parliament meet only to be overawed by armed peasant deputies. The extreme radicals will, therefore, have things much their own way, and, if supported by an armed peasantry, will be irresistible. And it is at this juncture that M. de Persiani has announced his intention of returning to Belgrade. Thus the outlook on all sides is black enough both for the dynasty and the peace of Europe.

The brave general—we mean, of course, Boulanger—has not yet started mysteriously for Paris, as was announced. He merely drove without any mystery at all to Richmond. Perhaps he was wise. Let him stick to the Star and Garter over here, and not bother his head about the crown and sceptre in Paris.

East London has once more been shocked by the discovery, about half past five on Tuesday morning, of the headless trunk of a woman, frightfully mutilated, in one of the railway arches in Pinchin street, Whitechapel. The constable who found the remains declares that they had not been in the spot more than half an hour, and no clue is forthcoming as to the means whereby they were deposited without the people astir in the streets seeing anything to rouse their suspicions. It is, of course, impossible to say whether this is to be added to the long list of crimes which are believed to be the work of the maniac who has kept East London in a state of terror for two years. The inquest was opened on Wednesday, but the medical evidence was not tendered. The task of identification promises to prove almost insuperable. A remarkable story is told by the New York Herald, according to which a man, who gave a false name and address, reported, a little after midnight on Saturday, that a murder had been committed on the very spot where the body was found. This was believed at one time, after inquiry from the police, to be a hoax, but, as it seems, was only premature. Can this be a clue?

Antwerp was the scene on Friday afternoon of a terrible explosion. Fifty million cartridges in a warehouse in the city, were fired by some mysterious means, and four immense Russian petroleum stores, which surround the building were immediately the center of a terrible conflagration, which raged for days and destroyed a prodigious amount of property and shipping before it was got at. The saddest detail of the catastrophe is the long list of killed, missing and wounded, amounting in all to about five hundred. The whole city went into mourning on Monday, the bells of all the churches tolling while the funeral processions passed through the streets from the St. Elizabeth and Stuyvenberg hospitals to the public cemetery. It is impossible to speak too severely of the criminal carelessness which allows explosives to be manufactured and stored in populous neighborhoods.

The strike draws to a close. On the morning of Friday week, certain influential mediators, among whom were the Lord Mayor, Cardinal Manning, the Bishop of London, Sir John Lubbock and Mr. Sydney Buxton, submitted to the leaders a proposal that the dock directors should grant the 6d. an hour, instead of 5d., the only point remaining in dispute, from January 1st next. Messrs. Burns and Tillett accepted these terms for their own part, and promised to recommend their acceptance by the men. The dock directors, on their side, thinking that this promise was equivalent to an agreement, yielded the terms proposed, and it was believed that the strike was over. The men, however, as might have been expected—dockers know no more about four months hence than about the next century—unanimously rejected the arrangement, which, we are bound to add, their leaders, finding it unpopular, did not heartily defend. The compromise therefore, fell through, amidst the usual charges of want of good faith; but on Thursday the mediators tried again, suggesting November 1st as date for new tariff, and securing the men's adherence in the first instance. It was believed on Friday afternoon that the dock directors would yield, and that on Monday work would recommence.

The paralysis of trade in London has not involved any paralysis of trade in the Kingdom. The total exports for August show an increase of 9.65 per cent over the same month last year, while the imports are greater by 66 per cent. The return for September will probably be less favorable, but it is nearly certain that the effect of the strike will fall on London and not on England. Ships are directed to other ports, especially Liverpool and Southampton, in which labor is not suspended. This relieves both dock directors and men of the charge of want of patriotism, as the depletion of London to the benefit of other English cities is a most patriotic object. The workers, though they may suffer, intermediately, must at last follow their work, and the growth of London, which is becoming a menace to the nation, will thus be checked. If it is stopped altogether, London would be much happier. It is simply impossible to organize any improvement, and more especially any improvements in the lodging of the people, while the capital adds to itself yearly a new city of 80,000 inhabitants.

There is one feature of the strike on which we should much like to have Mr. Parnell's frank opinion. Almost every day has recorded the receipt of additional thousands of pounds from Australia, those gifts being purely voluntary, and without any personal solicitation whatever. The strikers did not send out eloquent "mendicants" to the antipodes to carry round "the hat," the "great hearts" of Victoria and New South Wales need no appeal of that sort to give the dockers a helping hand. In this instance, therefore, we have every proof that the demonstration of Australian feeling is genuine, and not manufactured. But how about the late Home Rule mission? The beggarly amount collected has been vaunted as a proof of Australian sympathy with the Parnellite cause. In that case, the said sympathy must be of microscopic proportions, indeed, for such meagre results to have been secured. If there were any real feeling for Home Rule at the antipodes, our cousins would not have wanted for the importunity of Mr. Dillon, but would have started subscription lists on their own accord. The irresistible inference is, therefore, that except among the Irish settlers—and apparently not to any large extent among them—Home Rule finds little favor among Australians. Generous almost to a fault, they will subscribe liberally to relieve the distress of hungry dockers; but they are not to be bamboozled by the whining appeals of separatist orators. In a single day, they have given more to the strike fund than Mr. Dillon was able to collect among them during the whole of his trip. What does Mr. Parnell, I wonder, make of that fact?

The St. Leger fell, as the cablegrams will have told you long ere this, to the Duke of Portland's bay colt Donovan, the winner of the Derby. A round dozen ran for the great race of Wednesday last at Doncaster. Lord Marcus Beresford officiated as starter, and got his "little flock" well away at the first attempt. Five days before the race Donovan and Chitabob were first and second favorites respectively. But the rumor of a strained leg threw the latter back in the betting, till on the course 5 to 1 against was freely offered and seldom taken. Below the distance the two pulled to the front; but soon Chitabob was in trouble. Fred. Barrett had to ride Donovan to stall off Miguel, but won cleverly with something to spare. Davenport was a good third, with Enthusiast fourth. The result was received with the greatest enthusiasm, and, I may add, led to Davenport being freely backed for the Cæsarewitch. The Duke of Portland has had a wonderful year. His earnings in prizes alone amount already to nearly half a million dollars, and he will probably add to that sum after the Newmarket October meeting. 'Tis a wonderfully well-illustrated truism that "money makes money."

There is an excellent joke now going the round of the somewhat empty clubs, and the utterly dull newspapers. 'Tis the only gleam of humor in this flat time. Any and every prominent man is made its hero. Here it is. Let us give it to Colonel Ingersoll. I heard it last as his bon mot. I hope it is not stale. American's great thinker had been ordered to the seaside for change and rest. At the hotel where he stopped he was frightfully overcharged in the bill, and was dead broke by the number of tips he had to give the colored waiters. To add insult to injury, the landlord begged him before his departure to write something in the hotel book in remembrance of his visit. He wrote and departed. They gathered round the book and this is what they read:

"Col. Robert Ingersoll
Was ordered down here for change and rest,
The waiters got the change, and the landlord got the rest."

PERSONAL.

Items Telling of Movements of Well Known Persons.

Chas. Todd, Indian agent at Metlakahtla, and Mrs. Todd, will leave for the north in the morning. Mr. Todd expects to return to the city in about six weeks.

Thos. Robinson returns to Inverness, Skeena river, to-morrow morning, after a sojourn in the city of several weeks. He intends to pay the city another visit during the Christmas holidays.

George Garesche has recovered from a late attack of pneumonia sufficiently to leave St. Joseph's Hospital where he has been confined for some time.

Capt. J. G. Cox, one of the well known partners of E. B. Marvin & Co., is expected to arrive from the east by to-night's boat with his wife and daughter. It is the intention of the captain to settle down in Victoria, he being largely interested in the sealing industry as well as in the shipchandlery business. While east, Capt. Cox has given his views on the sealer seizures to several of the large papers there.

Miss Stapleton, who has been a guest at the Angel Hotel for several weeks, returns to her home on the Skeena river by the Sardonyx sailing in the morning.

Mrs. Cubbedt, of Balmoral, will spend the winter in the city.

Judge Wootton and B. Stapleton of the Skeena, will leave by the Sardonyx to-morrow morning.

C. Windsor, manager of the Wanuck Packing Co., is in the city.

S. McDowell and A. McNeil, of Rivers Inlet, are in the city.

John Richards, of the H. B. Co., returned by the Boscowitz this morning from a trip north in search of health. He is much improved by the sea voyage.

Bishop Ridley and wife, of Metlakahtla, were passengers to this city by the Boscowitz arriving this morning.

J. Thorburn Ross and bride left for home, Portland, Or., by the Olympian on Monday.

Miss Mary Reid left by the North Pacific this morning on a visit to the Rev. John Reid, Great Falls, Montana.

J. M. Duval, of Vancouver, came down Sunday evening.

John Lawson, of Halifax, who is connected with the Commercial Cable Company at Canso, returned east this morning after a short visit to the city.

E. Roberts, Savona's Ferry, is in the city.

Thornton Chase, superintendent of the Western Department agencies of the Union Mutual Life Insurance company, is in the city. Mr. Chase says the old company which never repudiated a policy, continues to advance notwithstanding keenness of competition.

Judge Bole, accompanied by Mrs. Bole, arrived down from the Royal City to-day.

G. E. Corbould, of Westminster, is in the city on business.

Revs. Bryant, Wood and Tate arrived down from the mainland this afternoon, to attend the I. O. G. T. convention.

R. L. Cawston, the famous mainland stock raiser, came down to day with a consignment of bunch grass beeves.

Lieut. Ogilvie returned to-day from a hunting tour to the interior.

John Dooley and J. Tomie, M. P. P., were passengers from New Westminster to-day by the Princess Louise.

Wm. Gordon, V. S., brother of Ben. Gordon (Angus & Gordon), has arrived from Ottawa with his family, with the intention of making their home in Victoria.

J. H. Hawthornthwaite, U. S. Consul at Nanaimo, has been in the city for several days on business.

Dr. E. A. Praegar and Mrs. Praegar, left Nanaimo on Saturday afternoon for Montreal, where Mrs. Praegar will go under medical treatment. They expect to be absent between three and four weeks.

AN ECONOMIC QUESTION.

To the Editor of The Times:

Sir,—I see by last night's Times that Trustee Mallandaine objected to the school children of the city taking part in the proposed celebration to Lord and Lady Stanley as the children are not charity children. Will Trustee Mallandaine please explain the difference between a free school and a charity school when the expenses are paid out of the common taxes.

EDMUND YATES

Discusses the Duke Michael and Other Dukes and Duchesses.

Marriage to a Subject Creates Royal Coolness—General News of the World.

[By Postal Telegraph.]

New York, Aug. 8.—Edmund Yates' London cable to the Tribune says the relations between the Prince of Wales and the Duke of Edinburgh are being commented upon freely, and the Duke's studied neglect of the Duke and Duchess of Fife, while he was at Balmoral, no doubt led the public to believe there has been a disagreement on the question of the Duke of Fife's marriage, which the Duke and Duchess of Edinburgh disliked on the ground that they objected to a daughter of the heir apparent marrying a subject. No doubt the refusal of the Duchess of Fife to listen to the addresses of the Grand Duke Michael intensified the feeling. The greatest secrecy is observed on the question among those about the court, but there is no doubt the above are the facts. Apart from the Princess' refusal to marry the Grand Duke Michael, it seems a little ridiculous to make a fuss over the Duke of Fife's connection, and to tolerate a Battenburg alliance. It seems to be pretty well admitted that for the future the Duke and Duchess of Edinburgh will live only a small part of their time in England. The recent rules made by the Czar, as to the necessity of those members of the royal family of Russia who enjoy incomes from the crown living a certain time of the year in Russia, will oblige the Duchess to live in that country more than she has hitherto done.

The loss of the war ship Sultan has annoyed and worried the Duke of Edinburgh, and the criticisms of the press have annoyed him greatly; and the Fife marriage has been the last straw to the load of grievance. The Duke of Edinburgh never has been very popular in England, and his departure will be taken with equanimity. The Duchess will come over from time to time to see the Queen and they will still retain Clarence House, but will not take another place in this country.

I have reason to believe that if the Prince of Wales ever entertained any idea of going into Siskim in course of his impending visit to Egypt, he has been dissuaded from the project, a result which will relieve from serious anxiety those who are conversant with the insalubrity of Siskim.

Notwithstanding late and more reassuring reports about the King of Portugal's health, it is well known he is paralyzed from the waist downward, and mysterious bulletins, daily issued, in no way deceive his people, who give him not months but weeks only to live.

With regret I saw that the court martial of the Halifax commander, Gerald Russel, and Navigating Lieutenant L. W. Sharp are to blame for the loss of the Lily. The result was totally unexpected in naval circles at home.

COMING WINTER.

Lockport, N. Y., Oct. 8—Snow fell here this morning to a depth of two inches. It destroyed a large amount of vegetables and apples. Standing trees were broken, as also were telegraph and telephone wires, cutting off communication for twelve hours.

PERSONAL.

Washington, Oct. 8.—Mrs. Sheridan has, up to date, received twenty thousand dollars royalty from the sale of General Sheridan's book.

Information has been received here to the effect that Admiral Porter is lying very ill at his summer home at Johnstown. His family regard his illness as most serious and are quite apprehensive as to the results.

MISSING WITNESS.

Chicago, Oct. 8.—Dan Carroll, an important witness for the prosecution in the Cronin case, is missing. His testimony has, however, been preserved, and in the event of his failure to appear at the trial his statement will probably be used. His evidence is that two weeks after the murder two men, whom he afterwards recognized as Coughlin and O'Sullivan, came to a farmer's house twenty miles from Ontonagon, where he was employed. He overheard a conversation as to the possibility of Cronin's body being discovered, and the advisability of their leaving the States.

SERIOUS CHARGE.

New York, Oct. 8.—John O'Connor died here to-day and a post mortem examination showed an abscess of the brain. Eleven weeks ago she was beaten with clubs by Maggie Miller, Nellie and Kate Reagan, Mamie McMahon and Julia Kelly, employees in the same shop in which she worked. These girls were arrested last night charged with murder.

WAR REMINISCENCE.

Gettysburg, Pa., Oct. 8.—The monument of the Fifty-Seventh New York regiment located in the wheat field where some of the severest fighting occurred in the battle of Gettysburg, was dedicated here to-day by a small party of survivors.

THE U. S. NAVY.

Washington, Oct. 8.—The recent shaking up of bureau officials in the navy department has caused quite a stir in that office. The policy of Secretary Tracy as first outlined by him is gradually being developed. The secretary is determined to have the bureau chiefs in harmony. Several chiefs are diametrically opposed to him and the decision of the navy department to build 2 three thousand ton cruisers in the navy yards is not unconnected with this feeling. It is considered highly probable that a couple of resignations may be handed in the coming week.

DANGER AHEAD.

Buffalo, N. Y., Oct. 8.—The dam at Cuba, N. Y., which threatened to break immediately after the Johnstown disaster, is again in a dangerous condition. The reservoir is one of the largest in the state and the result of a serious break would be something terrible.

HEAVY FAILURE.

Helena, Mont., Oct. 8.—John Boyer, a dry goods dealer, assigned last night. Liabilities $40,000; assets about the same. It is thought an extension will be granted by the creditors and all the preferred creditors are Helena people. Liabilities here are $16,000, the balance in Chicago, St. Paul, New York and San Francisco.

KNIGHTS TEMPLARS CONCLAVE.

Washington, Oct. 8.—The triennial conclave of Knights Templars began today. The principal feature was the parade, in which it is estimated 15,000 Knights were in line. The parade was reviewed by the President and Eminent Grand Master. Enormous crowds were on the streets. Much handsome decorations of buildings existed and commanderies were present from all parts of the country and Canada.

LONDON'S NEW LORD MAYOR.

London, Oct. 7.—Lord Mayor elect, M. Isaacs, is brought face to face with what seems an insurmountable difficulty. November 9th is the date for the Lord Mayor's show, and this year it falls on Saturday. Isaacs, who is a devout Jew, cannot lawfully either ride or walk in the procession, and as a Lord Mayor's show without a Lord Mayor would be something of an innovation, the outcome is watched with considerable interest. A compromise of some sort, in which religion and custom will each be called upon to yield something, is probable.

THE NEW CHAMBER OF DEPUTIES.

Paris, Oct. 7.—It is officially announced that the new chamber of deputies will be composed of 362 Republicans and 205 Opportunists. The Republicans will be divided in groups comprising 236 Moderates and 126 Radicals, and the Opportunists will be represented by 100 Royalists, 85 Bonapartists and 47 Boulangists.

THE KAISER'S VISIT TO GREECE.

Athens, Oct. 7.—It is officially announced that Kaiser William will arrive here on the 26th inst. He will stay five days and go direct to Constantinople. Afterwards he will visit Olympus in Greece. His proposed visit to Rome has been abandoned. The most powerful German fleet that ever sailed on the Mediterranean will escort the Kaiser to Athens. The Italian permanent fleet and Levant squadrons will soon assemble at Genoa.

ONE FOR THE DEMOCRATS.

They Elect the Governor in Montana and Other Officers.

Helena, Mont., Oct. 7.—The Independent says: Returns received to-day give a Democratic majority of 7 on joint ballot in the legislature, with one in doubt, which may increase the majority to 9.

In several counties the vote is very close, but it is not thought the official canvass will make any material change. Carter, representative for congress, has a majority of about 1200.

St. Paul, Oct. 5.—A Pioneer Press special from Helena says: While the Republicans are almost ready to concede both the governorship and legislature to the Democrats, they will not do so until the official count is made, for the reason that the result is so close as to warrant them in claiming at least the legislature. In several county precincts no tally was made of the votes except that made by judges of election, and these are now held in the hands of the various county clerks awaiting the official count. According to law the official count must be made as soon as all the votes are in.

The Democrats elect the governor and a majority of the legislature, but by margins so narrow that the full count may upset either. Individual Republicans concede the governor to the Democrats, and are half convinced that the legislature is Democratic, but the Republican press and state committee concede neither.

The Republicans now claim the legislature by one or two, while the Democrats claim it by five to seven.

A curious condition of affairs prevails among the sporting fraternity owing to the close election. Though Carter, Rep., is elected to congress by a majority of 1600 over Maginnis, Dem., the Democrats will not give up any bets on Carter's election until the Republicans give up money on governor. A contest is hinted at over the latter. The Republicans who bet on Power wisely refuse to pay their bets until it is decided who is the man. There is about $70,000 in the hands of stakeholders here and in Butte.

NO COD ON OREGON COAST.

The Albatross Fails to Verify the Reported Discovery.

Washington, Oct. 6—In July the newspapers of the Pacific coast called attention to the reported discovery by Captain Bell, of the steamer A. B. Field, of an important bank eight miles off Nestucca, Or., where he took large numbers of cod of an excellent quality. The entire region was explored by the fish commission's steamer Albatross during September, and the official report of Captain Tanner, just received, disproves the existence of such a bank anywhere in this vicinity. A depth of fifteen fathoms was found about a mile off along the part of the coast, while at a distance of eight miles from the shore depths of from sixty-eight to eighty-five fathoms occur. The water deepens regularly from the shore outward, and the bottom consists mainly of fine sand, character istic of Oregon and Washington. No cod was found by the Albatross in the region.

POLICE COURT.

[Before Hon. A. N. Richards, Q. C.]

A batch of Indians charged with being in possession of intoxicants, were dealt with in the regulation way of $25 or a month.

An emaciated specimen of a Chinaman was charged with supplying the Indians with the intoxicant, but denied it vigorously.

Officer Irvine gave evidence to the effect that yesterday he had seen the Chinaman and an Indian standing near the Pacific Telegraph hotel on Store street. Saw he C i a m p a n a bottle of whiskey, produced, to the Indian. The Chinaman ran, but was captured.

The Indian corroborated the foregoing and it becoming patent to the judicial mind that the prisoner was guilty, a sentence to pay $50 fine or three months hard labor was imposed. He will labor.

A pair of Indian drunks were fined $5 each.

Dan Apples was sent up for a month in default of a $5 fine imposed for being drunk.

Wm. N ville, who had been remanded from yesterday, at his own request, was allowed to call witnesses as to his good character. The witnesses were called, but they failed to appear.

The prisoner protested that he only took the articles in fun and intended to return them.

His honor did not take this view of the matter and sent the prisoner to jail for three month with hard labor.

An assault case was remanded until Friday.

Mourned as Missing.

For some time past a familiar figure on the streets was the wagon of the Pacific Coast laundry, which was drawn by a pair of horses driven tandem, by a stout individual named G. M. Martin, who was proprietor of the laundry in question. It was given out at one time that Martin's wife had fallen heir to a fortune of $60,000. Lately it has been current report that his financial standing was none of the best, and several creditors interested him. Probably becoming tired of this, Martin took passage on this morning's steamer for the Sound. The Chinese employed in the laundry had nearly $100 due them as wages, and they took steps to get out a writ of capias, but it could not be issued in time, and ere this Martin is safe in the territory of Uncle Sam. Several tradesmen of the city are anxiously looking for his reappearance here.

That is Better.

It is now reported on good authority that Hon. E Dewdney's private secretary will not receive the Indian Commissionership, to be vacated by Dr. Powell, but that, on the other hand, Mr. A. V. Vowell, gold commissioner for Kootenay, will likely get the appointment.

This Evening's Entertainments.

The Sir William Wallace Society will hold their concert in Oliver's Hall, Broad street, this evening.

The young people of the Pandora street Methodist church will hold a "nautical concert" in the church school room this evening.

THE TIMES' SPECIALS.

Sir John Addresses an Orange Meeting—Emperor William at Kiel.

The Episcopal Convention at New York—Crusade Against Music Halls.

[Special to The Times.]

Ottawa, Oct. 8.—Sir John A. Macdonald addressed a meeting of Orangemen to-day in Leeds county, to which Taylor, M. P., their representative, was invited to explain his vote in favor of the Jesuits. Taylor is an Orangeman.

LONDON TOPICS.

Royalty's Receptions—The C. P. R. to Increase Their Capital.

London, Oct. 8.—Emperor William arrived at Kiel to-day and was received with a salute from the forts and men-of-war in the harbor.

THE CZAR'S RECEPTION.

Preparations are completed here for the reception of the Czar. The public will have little to do with it. The Czar desiring no open display, it will be a court affair.

C. P. R. CAPITAL INCREASE.

It is intimated on the London exchange that the Canadian Pacific Railway will shortly appeal for increased capital to purchase steamers for its Atlantic and Pacific mail lines. The shares opened this morning at 70¾ and went up to 71 5-8.

CRUSADE AGAINST MUSIC HALLS.

The Bishop of London has consented to preside at a meeting which is to begin a regular crusade against the evil influences of music halls. Cardinal Manning cannot attend this meeting, or at all events has caused it to be understood he will not be present. His health is far from robust just now, and he is forbidden to leave his house in the evening.

EPISCOPAL CONVENTION.

Various Resolutions Considered and Referred to the Convention.

New York, Oct. 8.—In the house of deputies of the general Episcopal convention this morning, a committee was appointed to examine the proposed system of dividing the Church of the United States into provinces. The committee will report to a general convention of ninety-two.

A resolution looking to the admission of a new diocese in California within the present limits was passed.

The committee on consecration of new Bishops reported favorably. It was decided to consecrate Wm. A. Leonard, Bishop of Ohio, and Thos. F. Davies, Bishop of Michigan.

A resolution, permitting the re-establishment of primitive order of dioceses was referred.

A sensation was caused by a resolution offered by Mr. Stetsenburg of Indiana, asking for the creation of a new house of American archbishops with five men from five archdioceses, namely, Northern and Eastern, Central Northwest and Pacific Southern, and Southwestern. Referred to committee on canons.

Dr. Gibson of New York moved that the Athanasian creed be inserted and printed in the American prayer book, together with what is known as "Damnatory clauses." Referred to committee on revision of creed.

GOOD TEMPLARS.

The Grand Lodge in Session—Delegates Present.

The Grand Lodge of the I. O. G. T. opened in the Temperance Hall, Pandora street, this morning.

Through the failure of the Princess Louise to arrive from New Westminster, Mr. McGillivray, worthy chief templar, and the delegates from the mainland cities, Chilliwhack, North Arm and Delta were not present. An adjournment was accordingly made to 1:30 p.m., when the lodge opened with the following delegates present: D. McGillivray, G. C. T., Chilliwhack; S. Conge, G. Com., Nanaimo; S. P. Hoff, G. S. I. T., Victoria; C. S. Keith, G. Sec., Westminster; S. M. Hall, G. V. T., Victoria; Rev. C. M. Tate, G. Chap., Maple Ridge; W. Losee, G. T., Victoria; W. E. Johnson, G. Sent.; A. J. Clyde, G. Messr.; L. T. Bowman, J. Hastie, W. E. Losee, A. Booth, E. M. Campbell, W. Babcock, Mamie Gilley, S. E. Bateman, J. Sluggit, J. Mindell, Comox; R. Smith, A. Secord, H. Meyer, W. E. Loye, W. L. Pakley, J. M. Duval, J. S. Bonson, F. Charming, J. H. Ashwell, Julia Clark, Mrs. T. W. Hall, W. H. Rowling, W. J. Brandwith, Mary Jenkins, C. Lloyd, W. L. Livingstone, Eliza Livingstone, A. R. Carrington, Miss Beckett, C. Bryant, C. Moir, Mr. and Mrs. Caldwell, Angus Bell, T. W. Pearson, A. J. Clyde, J. A. Wood.

SPORTS AND PASTIMES.

The New York Giants are the League Champions For 1889.

New York, Oct. 8.—The New York baseball club arrived home from Cleveland at 7:30 last evening via the Erie road. An immense crowd of boys and men had gathered on both the New York and Jersey City sides of the Erie ferry and rendered the victorious "Giants" a most boisterous popular reception. Manager Mutrie announced on alighting: "We are the people," and the crowds all voted aye in the same language, emphatically loud enough to be heard at Harlem and Staten Island. All the players were there except Richardson, who got left at Cleveland and is to arrive to-morrow on the New York side. It appeared as if every ragged urchin in town had assembled to greet the champions. No one seemed to mind the cold drizzling rain which was falling; all seemed in duty bound to test their lungs in cheering for Buck Ewing and the "Giants" as they passed on their way to their homes or hotels.

The Water Works Case.

Rowland vs. City of Victoria.—Application was made this morning to the Chief Justice for an injunction restraining the city taking water from Colquitz river until they had arbitrated with the land owners, on the river, in regard to their claims for compensation against the city. A large number of affidavits were read on behalf of Mr. Rowland to show the damage he had suffered and that the City Council would not arbitrate. Objection was taken on behalf of the city that there was no power to compel an arbitration until it was shown that the water commissioner and the owners had disagreed before the question of compensation. His Lordship allowed the objection, holding that where a question of great public convenience of this nature arose and the owners could hereafter be compensated fully in damages for any loss they might suffer he ought not to grant an injunction and accordingly dismissed the application, suggesting, however, that the water works commissioner write and let the land owners throw what quantity of water he proposed to take from Colquitz river, for what time he would use it and how many dollars (if any) he would pay for the privilege. Hon. C. E. Pooley, Q.C., for the plaintiff, and W. J. Taylor (Eberts & Taylor) for the defendant.

UNEQUAL TAXATION.

If we may judge of the language of the Colonist this morning, it is a little shaky on the constitutionality of the special school tax. It has probably conferred with some eminent authority, and has been informed that praiseworthy as the object of the tax is, the modus operandi is subversive of the principle of equal taxation, a little matter over which English blood has been spilt. The contention that the tax is constitutional because it applies to four cities in the province is puerile. So long as this law exempts one solitary district, no matter how insignificant, from its operations, or for that matter a solitary individual, it is opposed to the fundamental principle that taxation must be equal. If the council should impose a special tax on James Bay ward because it has more use for Beacon Hill park than Yates and Johnson street wards, we should have an analogous case, and we need scarcely remark that James Bay ward would do some extremely high kicking. As we said before, in discussing this law, its saving clause is the comparative lightness of the tax, and the purpose thereof to which the fund so raised is to be applied. The people say, the method is questionable, but the object is a good one, and so long as the legislature does not abuse its usurpation we will remain quiescent. If the Colonist, or the Hon. JOHN ROBSON, or the legislature, are of the opinion that Victoria would not test the law in the highest courts in the empire, let them boost the tax a little, as they have a perfect right to do if the decision of Chief Justice BEGBIE is a sound one.

PATRIOTISM AND TRADE.

Hon. JOHN HERBERT TURNER, Minister of Finance, etc., has written one or two letters in reply to Capt. IRVING, and he has succeeded not only in admitting his offence but in demonstrating to a rather critical community that he is a very bad letter writer for a cabinet minister. Mr. TURNER does not fully appreciate his own position in the matter of freight transportation, and, perhaps innocently enough, endeavors to justify his exclusive patronage of American ships and railways when Canadian carriers are anxious and willing to take his business at rates equally advantageous to the Finance Minister We cannot state too clearly or too emphatically that this is a "patriotic" question. We have nothing to do with Mr. TURNER as a private merchant, or as a citizen who feels inclined to give his trade to outsiders. Our quarrel is with the politician—with a servant of the people—with an adviser of the representative of the crown—with an "honorable" gentleman who is passing rich on a salary of three thousand a year taken with punctilious regularity from the provincial treasury. We do not, as a general thing, go much on the man who is always prating about his loyalty, preferring to gauge the patriot by his private life and to measure his love of country and his desire to perpetuate its institutions by the sacrifices which he is prepared to make in behalf of his nationality. The citizens of every country look to their representative men—to those in whom they have expressed confidence—and especially to the members of their governments, for practical as well as theoretical patriotism. Canadians believe that if this country is to become a great and glorious country, it will be not less through the devotion of its people than in consequence of its geographical situation and its great natural resources. If the citizen does not love his country; if the minister of the crown, who has sworn to "bear true allegiance to Her Majesty"—meaning thereby his country and its people—advises its citizens to emigrate to a foreign land to secure civil and religious liberty; if a member of the cabinet, entrusted with the secrets of a government whose policy ostensibly is to foster a national sentiment, consistently declines to patronize home enterprises; if such quasi-traitors prevail in considerable numbers, the country thus handicapped is unquestionably on the broad road to destruction. This is Hon. Mr. TURNER'S position, and we again call his attention to his neglect to deal with this side of the question. Broadly stated, our contention is that a cabinet minister who patronizes foreign enterprises to the injury of those at home, and continues to do so year after year, and to boast of his conduct, is not a loyal man in practice. And when, as in the Finance Minister's case, he constitutes himself an emigration agent, as well as a bitter enemy of our railways and steamship lines, the time has certainly come for the press to intervene to save the good name of their statesmen from further disgrace. The fact that our disloyal Finance Minister is associated in business with the Agent General of British Columbia in London, who also draws public money and indirectly derives great advantages from his official position, only makes his case so much worse. The position of TURNER, BEETON & Co., in so far as the firm's political relations to the province are concerned, cannot be continued unless at the risk of impoverishing home enterprise and depopulating the province, and if Mr. TURNER has enough common sense left to see how improper it is that he should remain in a position where, both by precept and example, he can do so much harm to the state, he will vacate at once an office for which, both by training and sentiment, he is totally unfitted.

AMERICAN NATIONS.

It is not at all surprising that the congress of American nations now assembled at Washington for the purpose of discussing, and settling perhaps, some important trade questions, should be regarded by the European press with no little degree of apprehension. The loss of the South American trade would be a severe blow to Europe, and prove correspondingly advantageous to the United States. The Montreal Herald suggests that the South American delegates be invited to Canada. Having come so far to gaze on the civilization of the northern hemisphere it is but proper that the visitors should be invited to inspect Canadian institutions, familiarize themselves in fact with all of the industrial and commercial phases of this continent. The calling of this congress was a master stroke of policy. If successful, and doubtless it will be in part, it means commercial and in some instances perhaps political union, a combination which relegates Europe to a second place in the world's affairs. Canada cannot afford to remain out in the cold if she can help it. Canada's mission is to look out for number one, but she can never do this so long as she must subordinate her interests to those of imperialism. Our relations with the mother country are pleasant, the yoke is light; but it is beginning to look as if the necessities of trade would drive us to require from England the latitude of treaty power commensurate with our energy and our resources.

WOLSELEY'S VIEWS ON THE CIVIL WAR.

Lord WOLSELEY'S papers in the North American Review, entitled "An English view of the Civil war," while interesting as coming from an English soldier, are not very filling, or in other words the reader finds that his appetite has been whetted only, not satisfied. If an Englishman's view of the battle of Gettysburg, or GRANT'S operations around Chattanooga can be summed up or concentrated into less than five hundred words, it would seem to us that such views have scarcely more value than those of the mere civilian. Certainly, no information is imparted, no reasons why given, the subject is dropped at the very point where the reasons for the "view" should come in; the reader has to content himself with the dogmatic assertion that Gen. LEE was a greater commander than Gen GRANT. It seems to us that WOLSELEY is making a mistake in thus skimming over a great subject, not on account of LEE and GRANT nor the susceptibilities of the American people, but on account of himself. WOLSELEY has not yet earned that military reputation which admits of his dogmatizing, however courteously he expresses himself. If he proposes to pose as a military critic and cares to stand well with posterity, he should condescend to elaborate his reasons for assigning a place to Gen. GRANT secondary to LEE. Nobody cares now from a political point of view which of the two generals was the greater commander. As a scientific question, however, and as establishing the military acumen of the genius who directed the battle of Tel-el-Keber, WOLSELEY, it might be supposed would keenly analyse the strategy of the two generals and PLUTARCH-like draw his parallels. But the course which he has chosen to pursue is just the reverse of this. He touches the movements of LEE and GRANT as it were with the tips of his fingers, and the consequence is, he neither does justice to them nor to himself nor imparts any real information. A shrewd analysis of the campaigns of LEE and GRANT would not only be interesting reading, but would entitle WOLSELEY to be regarded a great military critic, where as the system he now employs cannot be regarded a view of the civil war, but a cursory glance at it. His dictum shinnes by the reflected light of a position in the English army a position which a great many Englishmen think has not been fairly earned. Whatever may be the nature of WOLSELEY'S contract with the Review can only be surmised. Possibly it calls for brevity, his name being sufficent for the purposes of the magazine in question. This we repeat is unfortunate for the writer. The world will not accept his dictum. Not until he has commanded a million of men in the field and won battles which shall compare with Gettysburg and Sedan will his opinions be accepted as law and gospel, or for that matter possess the merit of novelty. We are of the opinion, however, that WOLSELEY'S real object in these articles is to point out the disastrous consequences of an army being commanded by politicians instead of soldiers. He mentions that the battle of Fredricksburg was fought against BURNSIDE'S judgment, that the administration at Washington, in fact, continually interfered, and ordered movements which were based more on supposed political necessity than military considerations. If this be WOLSELEY'S object he establishes his case with great clearness. It is evident that WOLSELEY does not relish the idea of having the movements of the army of which he is the commander directed from Downing street.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

In a late interview respecting the establishment of a federal divorce court in Canada, Sir WM. RITCHIE said: "I have always lived in provinces where there is a divorce court. In Nova Scotia and New Brunswick there are divorce courts with, of course, a limited cause of divorce. I am strongly in favor of the establishment of a Dominion divorce court. Of course its scopes and extent would have to be settled. These are mere details. I would not make them as free as some of the United States divorce courts, whilst I would gladly see such a court established."

It would be a good joke on the Alaska Commercial Company and its American friends if the British customers should declare that the fur seal sacque was a useless luxury and not half as pretty as many other expensive furs to be found in the market. The coat of the fur would go out of fashion, out of demand, and therefore out of value. What then would Uncle Sam do with the seal rookeries? Let the ladies boycott the fur seal for a year or two and they will soon settle the question.

Two years ago the Americans discovered that there was something in Kootenay. Mr. MARA has just found it out. Not until this fall has he condescended to visit the mines, and satisfy himself as to the necessity of steamboats and wagon roads. He has discovered that it costs $33 per ton to transport ore from Toad Mountain to Helena; and he has also discovered that the same ore may be put down at Revelstoke at half that price. These are discoveries extraordinary, and what is better they are clinched by a man high in authority. Doubtless, now that these discoveries have been attested and sworn to, an effort will be made within the next decade to wrest from the Yankees the fruits of their ill-gotten enterprise.

We referred last week to an amusing dispute which recently took place between a learned judge in the Straits Settlements and the members of the bar by whom he was surrounded as to the necessity of wearing wigs during the hot weather. The Bar triumphed, and the judge was compelled to withdraw a somewhat peremptory order he had issued insisting upon counsel wearing the conventional wig on every occasion upon which appearance had to be made in court. Now we learn that an anti-wig movement is being worked up in Adelaide, the prime mover being no less a personage than the well-known Mr. WARD, M.P. That gentleman recently, from his place in the House, put the following ominous query:—"Will the Attorney-General consider the propriety of taking some steps to abolish the custom of judges of the Supreme Court and practitioners appearing before them wearing wigs, especially in the summer time?" What the learned Attorney-General has said by way of reply we have not heard, but we shall watch for it with bated breath, as Sir HENRY PARKES would say. The Colonies and India, Sept. 18.

The late CHARLES CROCKER'S estate pans out $24,000,000. In 1860 CROCKER'S worldly possessions probably did not exceed $40,000. In company with LELAND STANFORD and others he succeeded in obtaining a subsidy for the Central Pacific railway. The Contract and Finance Company was organized, through which Messrs. CROCKER, STANFORD, HUNTINGTON, et al, let contracts to themselves at prices to suit. It is needless to say that this contracting firm made money. Every dollar that the Central Pacific did not cost fell into their hands. It is quite true that the railway operations of this firm were of immense benefit to California, but the impartial historian of the next century will scarcely classify this rapacious triumvirate in the list of philanthropists. Nobody would be mean enough to deny these men handsome profits for their energy, but the fact that in less than thirty years the Contract and Finance Company should have amassed over $150,000,000 indicates pretty plainly that their transactions were not wholly legitimate.

REQUISITION

To THOMAS EARLE, Esq.

DEAR SIR:

As E. CROW BAKER, Esq., M. P., has resigned his seat in the Dominion House of Commons, we, the undersigned electors of Victoria City and District, beg you to allow yourself to be placed in nomination as a candidate for the vacant seat.

We do this because we feel that at the present time it is imperative that Victoria should have the best man that can possibly be got to look after her interests; and as your business capacity, your large interests here, and your general fitness for the position, are so well known to us, we hereby pledge you our hearty support if an election is necessary.

REPLY.

GENTLEMEN:—I thank you most heartily for your very numerously signed requisition asking me to allow myself to be placed in nomination as a candidate to represent you in the Dominion House of Commons, and also for your expressions of confidence as to my fitness for the position.

I have much pleasure in acceding to your request, and can assure you that if elected I will do my utmost in the interest of this constituency and Province, according to the present administration a generous but independent support.

I have the honor to be, gentlemen,
Your obedient servant,
THOMAS EARLE.

MR. EARLE'S VIEWS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE TIMES:

SIR,—The leading article in Sunday's Colonist, "Much Ado About Nothing," is worthy of careful perusal. There is a ring of insincerity about it. "There may be something in the reports or there may be not." Now, Mr. Editor, is the time to make sure of Mr. Earle's standing in this matter. The public whom he is to serve if elected, certainly have a right to know if Mr. Earle is sufficiently prepared to take a determined stand against any modification of the Chinese Restriction Act. The public should know it and it may be found that a number of those even who have signed his requisition will feel themselves justified in withdrawing their support. If, on the other hand, he is willing to do so, it can do him no harm to say so. It is not enough to say there is no danger, that Mr. Earle will look after the interests of Victoria, that he can have no desire to make Victoria a Chinese colony, a second Hongkong. Some of the wealthy, influential men of this city have been quite willing to do so in the past and may do the same thing in the future, more especially as towns to carry on the coolie trade, the opium traffic, and Chinese prostitution have been known to pay two per cent. interest per month, which is quite an inducement to many. There is another view brought forward in this connection—Imperial interests. Years ago the Colonial office informed the Australasian colonies that if they found Chinese immigration inimical to their welfare they had a right to legislate against them. The Colonial office has never receded from that position. The recent legislation of the Australian colonies is infinitely more stringent than any that Canada has passed, or proposes to pass. Yet there is no word that the Imperial Government has addressed a single remonstrance to the various governments of the Australian colonies. What is the inference? That a base attempt is to be made by playing on men's loyalty to get a reluctant consent from them to have their birthright sold to enrich a few unscrupulous men. Mr. Dewdney sounded the warning signal. It is altogether improbable that a politician of his stamp would have made such a pro Chinese speech in Victoria if there was not something behind it, and it does not rest on the speech of Mr. Dewdney alone. Months ago rumors from well-informed circles were in circulation to the effect that the Dominion government intended to introduce measures to abolish or modify the restriction act passed by the House of Commons. The rumors were of such a character that prominent men from the east were interviewed in regard to them, and while these men gave the assurance that they did not believe it, the course of Mr. Dewdney should open the eyes of the electors and warn them to be on the alert. "Eternal vigilance is the price of liberty." This is a question which affects directly every wage earner in the province. A workingman's interest does not lie in cheap coolie labor. Now is the time to speak out. If Mr. Earle declines to speak out in clear, unmistakable language, then the public may take it for granted that their interests are again being sold to further the schemes of designing men. WATCH.

RAILWAY ROUTES TO ALBERNI.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE TIMES:

SIR,—I saw a communication in THE TIMES of 20th signed "Islander," which treated amongst other things the different proposed routes for extending the Esquimalt & Nanaimo Railway to Comox. I am very much of the same opinion as "Islander" with regard to the advantages possessed by the route by way of Alberni instead of following the east coast. There is certainly no good land or settlements on the east coast that could have any weight in inducing the company to follow that route. The only settlement above Wellington of any consequence is Englishman's river, which would not be entirely left out should the line go by way of Alberni. It seems to me to be only necessary to take a look at the map of the Island to be convinced of the importance of Alberni as a shipping point. It is undoubtedly the natural outlet for the coal that is shipped from Comox, and I think the company will be eventually convinced of the fact: but my object in writing was to discuss the different available routes from the end of the present line to Alberni. "Islander" suggested that the best route was by way of Horn lake. I think there are several objections to that route. In the first place, you have to travel 40 miles up the coast from Nanaimo and 22 across to Alberni, making an entire distance of 62 miles. In the second place there is quite a high mountain to be crossed which I think would be almost impracticable for railroad purposes. Another route which I think is preferable to the Horn lake way is by way of Cameron lake, following the route of the present wagon road the entire length of which is about 52 miles from Nanaimo. On this route there is still a mountain to overcome, but it is not so high as at Horn lake, and there is a better opportunity of getting a proper grade for a railway than there is at the former place. There is still another route which I think may be found to be preferable to either of the other I have named. It is by way of the head of Englishman's and Cameron rivers. On leaving the present terminus at Wellington this line would go directly back across a low ridge behind Brannan lake. It would then follow the slope of the mountain round to the head of Englishman's river and cross the divide between that and Cameron river. At this point would be encountered the only engineering difficulty on the whole route. In making the descent from Englishman's to Cameron river the direction to be followed is almost due west. It would follow Cameron river for some distance when the river turns directly to the north where there is a low pass going through to Alberni. I think the route would be seven or eight miles shorter than by way of Cameron lake. Hoping to hear further discussion on this subject, I remain,

ALBERNIAN.

An Interesting Discovery.

A discovery, referring to the iron age, has been made at Gloppen, on the coast of Norway. A burial chamber, formed of stone slabs and containing the remains of a man, has been uncovered. There were also in the chamber a bucket, ornamented with bronze, made of limewood; two iron lance heads, twelve inches long; a double edged sword, in scabbard, with a ferrule of bronze; an iron shield, a bronze buckle, some Roman gold coins, perforated and worn as ornaments; a glass beaker, green and blue in color and ornamented with etched tracings; a pair of bronze scales, some iron arrow heads, and a pair of shears in a wooden case. On the body lay two large felt stones and some bronze ornaments. The lining of the coat around the neck was in a perfect state of preservation, and revealed rich embroidery of images of animals. In the hands were three interlaced wooden rings, resembling the well-known puzzle rings.—Philadelphia Ledger.

The St. John, N. B., Poisoning Case.

The city of St. John and surrounding country have been thrown into a state of the greatest excitement over the attempt at poisoning a number of families in that city, and which in one case was successful, resulting in the death of Mrs. Macrae, wife of the Rev. Donald Macrae, D. D., minister of St. Stephen's Presbyterian church. Mrs. Macrae was among the most estimable women in the city, much beloved by the congregation and community generally. Dr. Macrae, who is completely prostrated, is one of the most scholarly and vigorous preachers in the Canada Presbyterian church. He was born and educated in Scotland, within the pale of what is known as the "old kirk." He was called to St. Andrew's church, St. Johns, Newfoundland, where he remained some years, when he was called to his present church. He was moderator of the general assembly and received the degree of D.D. from Queen's. The other clergymen who received parcels of the poisoned candies are Rev. Mr. Dienstadt, Methodist, and J. Desgurer, English church, and who is rector of what is known as the "Stone church." He came from England about two years ago and was married to a Mrs. Carr of St. John, about a year ago. Mr. Desanges is an eloquent preacher, and popular with all classes. He is what is known as a broad church man, who can enjoy any and every service no matter how high or how low. He can make room for all, and his church is crowded at every service.

CITY AND PROVINCE.

—It would be a gross injustice to confound that standard healing agent—Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil—with the ordinary unguents, lotions and salves. They are oftentimes inflammatory and astringent. This oil is, on the contrary, eminently cooling and soothing when applied externally to relieve pain, and powerfully remedial when swallowed. *

—Mrs. E. H. Perkins, Creek Centre, Warren county, N. Y., writes: "She has been troubled with asthma for four years, had to sit up night after night with it. She has taken two bottles of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil and is perfectly cured. She strongly recommends it, and wishes to act as agent among her neighbors." *

—The sere and yellow leaves now strew the ground and litter the sidewalks. Take fact, together with the appreciable coolness noticable in the temperature, makes housekeepers figure on the advisability of getting the parlor stove down from the store room and putting it up where its cheerful heat will be best appreciated.

A FLAW, THEY SAY.

The Carpenters' Strike Said not to be Over Yet.

S. A. Donovan, chairman of the carpenters' union, has called a meeting of the members to be held in Harmony hall at 8 o'clock this evening. The reason given is that a flaw has been discovered in the report of the Board of Trade, and this matter is to be discussed at the meeting. Mr. Donovan further says that the strike will probably have to be ordered on again. A full attendance is requested at the meeting.

The trouble now is that the employers refuse to give ten hours pay for nine hours work.

Ship Concert and Social.

The Young People's Association of the Methodist Church intend holding a ship concert and social on Tuesday evening next, October 8 h. 4it

At Hyman's Altar.

The marriage of Miss Nellie Wolfenden and G. F. Mathews, of the firm of E. G. Prior & Co., will be solemnized in St. James' church, James Bay, at half-past seven o'clock to-morrow evening.

St. Ann's Orphans' Fair.

In connection with this fair a concert will be held on the evenings of each day, at which a number of the most talented local vocalists and performers, with the additional attraction of the now celebrated Mr. Loseby, of H. M. S. Swiftsure, will take part. Admission fee 25 cents. Refreshments 25 cents. 8 3t

Fair and Bazaar.

The annual fair and bazaar of the Roman Catholic church will be held on Wednesday and Thursday. Extensive preparations have been made to make the affair an unqualified success by hard work on the part of the ladies. The proceeds, as usual, will be devoted to the orphans of St. Ann. A liberal attendance would delight the workers in the cause of charity.

Of a Kind.

Col. Rhodes, Minister of Agriculture for Quebec, withheld the government grant for the eastern townships fair of two thousand dollars because the directors slighted him. This is almost as bad as a great morning paper boycotting a wrestling match because the stakes were not deposited with it, or as hounding a subordinate in an opposition newspaper office.

P. O. Home.

The ladies' committee thankfully acknowledge the following gifts in September: Clothing, Mrs. R Jamieson, "The King's Daughters," Mrs. Christie; 60 yards dress goods, John Partridge; fruit, Mrs. Garvan, Mrs. Finlayson (Rock Bay), Mrs. D. Stephen, Mr. R. T. Williams (twice), Mr. Archibald, J. & A. Clearihue; milk, Mr. Jack (daily), Mr. Rogers; vegetables, Mrs. ——; mutton, Mr. Garvan.

Another Brick.

Mr. John Turner, the purchaser of the property on the north west corner of View and Douglas streets, will remove the old buildings at present on the property and erect thereon a handsome three-storey brick in the near future. The property is 60x120, and real estate men consider it a bargain for the purchaser at $13,500. The lot was formerly owned by E. B. Marvin.

From the North.

The steamer Barbara Boscowitz arrived from northern ports this morning with quite a number of passengers on board. As cargo is brought 1580 cases salmon from the North Pacific Packing Co., 150 from Inverness and 1020 from Wannock cannery.

Nothing special occurred during the trip, the weather being mild but very rainy.

To Consider a Transfer.

A special convention of the Masonic lodges, Victoria Columbia No. 1; Vancouver Quadra No. 2, and Columbia R.A. Chap. 120, will be held this evening in the lodge rooms. The purpose of the convention is to discuss the advisability of taking over the property on Douglas street, on which the Masonic building stands, by the individual lodges, the property at present belonging to the Masonic Grand Lodge.

Flying Bullets.

A rapid fusilade of pistol shots startled the residents near the corner of Store and Herald streets this morning about half-past one o'clock. An occupant of a cabin near there became impressed with the idea that someone was trying to invade his home, and to repel the disturber of his fears he opened fire with a revolver. One of the bullets, all of which went wide of the mark, hit the Pacific Telegraph hotel. No damage was done.

Seal Skin Shipment.

Mr. Morris Moss shipped on the Walla Walla, sailing last Sunday, 4000 seal skins valued at $30,000. They were consigned to a San Francisco firm. In conversation with Mr. Moss, he stated he had shipped this year to various countries for various firms, 14,000 seal skins, representing a value of $100,000. And this is only a portion of the shipments from this port, which goes to show that the sealing industry is worth carefully protecting.

Mr. Hill's Bill.

Mr. Hill, C. E., has purchased twenty lots in the vicinity of the city suitable for the manufacture of bricks, and should it be decided that Pickering & Crompton are to build the city's sewers, a mammoth brick making plant will be brought out from England. Should Pickering & Crompton's proposals be rejected, Mr. Hill will seek compensation. He claims to be out £500, having relinquished a lucrative position in Cornwall, Eng., to come out here.

The Eureka Mine.

The shareholders of the Eureka silver mining company held their annual general meeting to-day, at which a statement of the affairs of the company was submitted. The company was formed in 1871, by Geo. Dunbar, now deceased, and Thos. Schooley, who met a tragic fate. Since then it has been worked on a small scale, yielding in bullion something over $1000. The affairs of the company are in a healthy condition, and a proposition to sell the mine is spoken of.

The Stranded Icarus.

No very definite news as to whether the Icarus got afloat or not, is to hand yet. Capt. McCulloch, of the steamer Princess Louise, reports that when he passed Mayne island to-day he sighted a man-of-war lying close in to the land, but the distance they were away made it impossible to say whether she was afloat or not. She was close to the shore, and the chances are she is still aground. Two other men-of-war were in the vicinity. A heavy gale was blowing in the gulf this morning.

The "Snowflakes."

Though of an amber hue, the minstrels of H. M. S. Swiftsure take the euphonious appellation of "Snowflakes." In color diametrically opposed, in harmony of action they are known to be tip top. The forthcoming benefit on Thursday night next at the Victoria commends itself to the public in the cause of sweet charity. An excellent programme has been arranged for the evening, and as the affair is purely local and the proceeds to be devoted to the Jubilee hospital, a generous patronage would encourage the willor minstrels' laudable efforts, besides financially assisting an institution that is in need of assistance. Thus do you kill two birds with one stone.

Every Thing to Goal.

A scrimmage occurred in the police cells at an early hour this morning, which was lively while it lasted. Among those locked up last night were the the veteran drunk, Dan Apples, and one Chas. Lawson, charged with attempted rape. The cells were crowded and it became necessary to put these two prisoners in one cell. Everything was quiet for a time, but suddenly Lawson made a savage assault on Dan. The old fellow was being used pretty roughly, called for help. Officers Mitton and Lovin opened the cell door and dragged Lawson away. He then turned on the officers and fought like a tiger, biting and scratching viciously. After a struggle he was handcuffed, but even then he fought desperately and it became necessary to tie his legs. The prisoner, as soon as he could catch his breath, commenced to pray for a pistol with which to kill his enemies. It is surmised that the man is trying to play the crazy dodge to escape the penalty of the serious charge against him.

Governor-General's Visit.

Mayor Grant has received the following telegram:

Regina, N. W. T., Oct. 7.—Please convey His Excellencies best thanks to citizens for proffered hospitality. He gladly accepts invitation to banquet, as also to ball. Trusting that his visit may not be curtailed by circumstances mentioned in my letter to you. COLVILE.

The ball to which His Excellency has been invited, will be held on Tuesday evening, 5th of November.

MORE CHURCH IMPROVEMENT.

A Set of Chimes for Christ Church Cathedral.

The first church in British Columbia to have a set of chimes will be Christ Church Cathedral in this city. A splendid set of tube chimes has been sent for and are expected to arrive in about six weeks, and to be in working order before Christmas. These chimes are the same as those used in St. Ann's church, Toronto. They can be rung by one man, cause no vibration of the building in ringing and have generally superseded the bells. They are very sweet.

CABINET MAKERS STRIKE.

They Demand Nine Hours as a Day's Work.

The cabinet makers at John Weiler's furniture factory went out on a strike this morning for nine hours a day and will be followed to-night by those employed in J. Sehl's factory and others.

Mr. Weiler says he will concede the hour asked for, provided the other employers will do the same, but up to the hour of going to press no definite information as to the intentions of the other firms was learned. The men are very quiet in their demeanor, but seem determined not to give in.

ADRIFT ON THE STRAITS.

Two Young Men have an Unpleasant Experience.

Two young men, Messrs. Martin and Ellis, conceived last night that it would be a good idea to take a cruise upon the water. A small sloop was engaged of Capt. Dan McIntosh and the two set sail on the briny deep. All went well until the craft was off Beacon Hill, when the wind died away, and the tide taking the boat it was drifted up near San Juan island. About midnight a light breeze enabled the pair to work their way back toward British soil, but at daylight this fell off. The nawilling mariners were by this time in a bad pickle—no grub, no grog, no nothing. To add to their misery it rained, and wet and uncomfortable they sat and saw the boat drift aimlessly on the sea. They were athirst, but like the Ancient Mariner there was "water, water everywhere, but not a drop to drink."

This morning they sighted the steamer Daisy and hailed her, but the steamer would not stop. At last they succeeded in reaching Clover Point and there beached the boat, returning home afoot. Both express themselves as disgusted with boatsailing in the straits and vow they will take a steamer when next they go pleasuring.

MRS. GEORGE WISE

The Descendant of an Indian Rajah —Her History, etc.

Mrs. George Wise, the widow of the late George Wise, who at the time of his death was government agent at Yale, and formerly was connected with the press of this city, having been thrown upon her resources to make a living, is at present engaged in teaching a system of hand-painting on silk and velvet which she was the first to introduce into this country. Madame Aida Zuleika Wise has a remarkable history. She is the granddaughter of a princess of India and the great granddaughter of one of the most powerful rajahs that that country has had in modern times. He was enormously wealthy, numbering his elephants by hundreds and his palaces by scores. When the iron hand of Clive was subjecting the country the rajah, a warm friend of the conqueror, was assassinated and his family destroyed by a jealous relative who espoused the cause of the malcontents. Only one daughter escaped—the Princess Merghenbaye—who married an English officer. She left two sons, one of whom became a major in the British army and the other a captain in the East Indian navy. Mrs. Wise is the daughter of the last mentioned officer. We understand it is the lady's wish to return to India, and she is bending every energy to the accomplishment of that object. We know her to be an accomplished lady and most proficient in the particular art which she teaches—East Indian work of rare beauty. Its adaptability to house ornamentation in many forms makes it a valuable acquisition at a time when beautiful homes are becoming numerous and new ornamental designs and methods are being eagerly sought for by the refined in all classes of society.

NINE HOURS A DAY.

The Request of the Men Acceded to by the Contractors.

The fact that the working carpenters of the city had gone out on strike for nine hours' work a day was the reason for the calling of a special meeting of the contractors' board of trade at 4 p. m., yesterday.

At that hour a majority of the members of the board had gathered at the rooms, corner of Fort and Government streets. Mr. A. J. Smith, president, took the chair, and the reason for calling the meeting was explained. The secretary then read a letter from the carpenters' union which stated that unless the board recognized nine hours as a day's work a general strike would be ordered.

A motion was put to the effect that the communication be received and the request granted.

One or two spoke against the motion, but others explained that the men were very determined in their stand, and would stay out perhaps for weeks unless the request was granted. It was perhaps a rather too sudden action on the part of the carpenters, who, had they presented their claims in due form and allowed the board time to consider it, would in all likelihood have received the concession without the trouble of a strike. The men had in a measure a right to "kick," as all the other building trades were working but nine hours, and of course the carpenters felt that they were worthy of the same hours.

Several amendments were put and lost, and the original motion that nine hours be recognized as a full day was carried.

THE STRIKE OFF.

The secretary of the carpenters' union was notified at once of the action of the contractors, and a hurried special meeting was called to announce the fact. The strike was then declared off and the men were all at work this morning on the concession to nine hours.

This slight strike has ended very quickly and quietly, and all parties interested in it, both employers and workmen, are to be complimented on the temperate and business-like manner in which the situation has been discussed. The men have gained their point, but the chances are that the contractors will not suffer loss by the shortening of hours, for a good tradesman will turn off as much work in nine hours when he works willingly, as he would in ten when he grudges each stroke of the hammer.

Honor to Whom.

In fairness to the managers of Victoria Theatre we wish to state that the presence of Mrs. Siddons last evening was secured by a substantial guarantee without the aid of Messrs. Howe and Bell, and we may remark in spite of the item in this morning's Colonist in laudation of those gentlemen) that Victoria's amusement loving public can safely trust themselves in the hands of the present manager, Mr. Austin, who has, and always will have the reputation of dealing honestly with theatre-goers and theatrical companies.
